StoppaRed UV - Self Defence Spray

StoppaRed UV has been designed to be a UK legal self defence spray that anyone can carry. Ideal for anyone concerned with their personal safety.

StoppaRed UV projects a thick and sticky stream into the eyes and face of an attacker to physically block their vision and disorientate them, giving you a few seconds to react and escape. The formula is difficult to remove without water and the bright red colour helps you direct the stream accurately and to also identify the offender in the moments after the incident. An invisible UV dye helps to ID the attacker even days later.

The StoppaRed UV canister is designed so it can be fired with one hand, without the need to remove any pins, caps or lids. It has a spring loaded safety flap that is pushed up when you place your thumb on to the firing button. The design also enables you to know which way the spray is pointing without having to look at it - even in the dark.

Use your StoppaRed UV legally to defend yourself or someone else and receive a free replacement - subject to you having an official Police report regarding the incident.
